Armed Forces in 'Smokeout'

On Nov. 19, 1987, Americans on military installations across the United States and overseas will take part in the 11th annual Great American Smokeout.

Since the first effort in 1976, which was billed by the American Cancer Society as "an upbeat, good-natured effort to encourage smokers to give up cigarettes for 24 hours," the smokeout has attracted greater attention and more participants every year. Department of Defense health promotion officials have worked closely with the American Cancer Society to plan this year's smokeout, which promises to be no exception to the "bigger and better" rule.

Smokeout 1986 set an all-time record for participation. The 23.8 million smokers who tried to quit during the day-long event represented more than 43 percent of the nation's 54.5 million smokers.

This year's Army theme is "The Great Army Smokeout." The goal of the 1987 Great American Smokeout is to get at least one in every five smokers to give up cigarettes from midnight Wednesday to midnight Thursday, Nov. 19. The idea is for smokers to prove to themselves they can abstain for 24 hours.

In March of 1986, Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger issued a health promotion directive on smoking and other health risk behaviors. It focused in large part on smoking prevention and cessation programs.

As a result of this directive, all branches of the military have been actively planning new smoking control initiatives for military personnel, retirees, their families and civilian employees.

The American Cancer Society has offered training to military and DoD civilian personnel as "Fresh Start" facilitators to conduct ongoing smoking cessation clinics at military installations in the United States and overseas.

According to the 1985 worldwide DoD survey on cigarette use in the armed forces, smoking in all services at all paygrades, averaged 46 percent. Although the 1986 figures for all services are incomplete, the trend is encouraging. Smokers in the Air Force in 1986 were down to 31 percent (from 39 percent in 1985). The Army dropped to 41 percent, compared to 52 percent the year before.

In 1985, 54 percent of Navy personnel and 43 percent of Marine Corps personnel smoked. When released, the 1986 figures are expected to be lower.

Although DoD is doing what it can to discourage non-smokers from starting and to support smokers' efforts to quit, cigarettes are still sold in military commissaries at prices 26 and 42 percent lower than civilian store prices because they are not subject to state and local excise taxes. However, as of October 1987, overseas commissaries will no longer sell tobacco products to anyone under 18. (ARNews)

TWO WSMR EMPLOYEES received the Commander's Award for Civil Service for their accomplishments and performance with the Directorate of Contracting. Former commander, Maj. Gen. Joe Owens, left, presented the award to Ramon R. Acosta, contract specialist and Ernest F. Marrujo, industrial property management specialist. This award is the highest local honorary recognition for civilians. Both recipients received a certificate and a medal.

Be kind to all smokers during Smokeout day

On Smokeout Day everyone tries to be especially kind to smokers who are trying to quit. It is a time of lighthearted fun. Preaching and scolding are taboo. Never-smokers or ex-smokers who are "adopting" current smokers for the day should offer moral support, encouragement and incentives to help get them through the day—and hopefully longer.

Show that you care—you have a vested interest in keeping your adoptee in good health.

Provide him or her with a survival kit of low-calorie nibbles—carrots and celery, sticks of cinnamon, sugarless gum, etc.

Don't nag or threaten.

Try to make yourself available either in person or by phone for the entire day.

Take your adoptee out for breakfast or lunch. Or promise a special dinner at his or her favorite restaurant.

Give him a special Smokeout "quitter's sticker" to wear. Go public with your adoption. Enlist the help of others in giving moral support to your adoptee.

Especially if you're a never-smoker, consider giving up something for the day, too such as candy, desserts or coffee.

If you're an ex-smoker share your experiences rather than lecture on the dangers of smoking. What worked for you may work for others.

Keep in contact.

Send flowers for a post-Smokeout celebration.

Offer a lift to work or home in the afternoon.

Schedule an evening activity that minimizes the temptation to smoke. For example, see a movie in a theater that prohibits smoking in at least one section, try a strenuous activity like racquetball, bowling or a swim at the local pool. Or stage a get-together with fellow adopters and their "foundlings."

Be a cheerleader—offer praise, encouragement and finally, at the end of the day, congratulations!

Urge them to stay off cigarettes now that they've made it for a day!

Give added assistance after the Smokeout with a special gift: the American Cancer Society's "Fresh Start" quit smoking course. It's available on audio and videocassette as well as in paperback. They're available in local bookstores and video outlets.

Post Christmas ball planned

The Commanding General of White Sands Missile Range, Maj. Gen. Thomas J.P. Jones, cordially invites all civilian and military personnel of the WSMR community to the WSMR Christmas Ball.

The Christmas Ball will be held Dec. 4, at the Officers Club. Cocktails start at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

The menu is prime rib for $17.50 or chicken cordon bleu for $13.50. The dinner includes potato, vegetable, bread, dessert and wine. After dinner entertainment includes live music and dancing.

Seating will be limited to 240. Make your reservations by purchasing tickets at the club or by calling 678-2055, or 678-2904, not later than Nov. 24.

Review leave schedules

Employees are reminded that WSMR's conversion to the standardized DA pay period has taken effect. Employees are further reminded that in order to synchronize the WSMR pay period cycle with the DA cycle, WSMR implemented a one-week transitional pay period from Nov. 1 to 7.

This effectively reduced the 1987 leave year by one work week, thus reducing the total leave accruals for the current leave year. In Road Runner (12-87), employees were advised of the impact the changeover would have on them.

In particular, annual leave and sick leave entitlements for the one-week transitional pay period would be reduced by one-half the rate of their normal leave accrual. Now that this adjustment has been effected, employees are advised to review their leave schedules and adjust them accordingly.

Smoke-related diseases will kill thousands in '87

Here are some of the latest tobacco and health-related findings from the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) and the American Cancer Society:

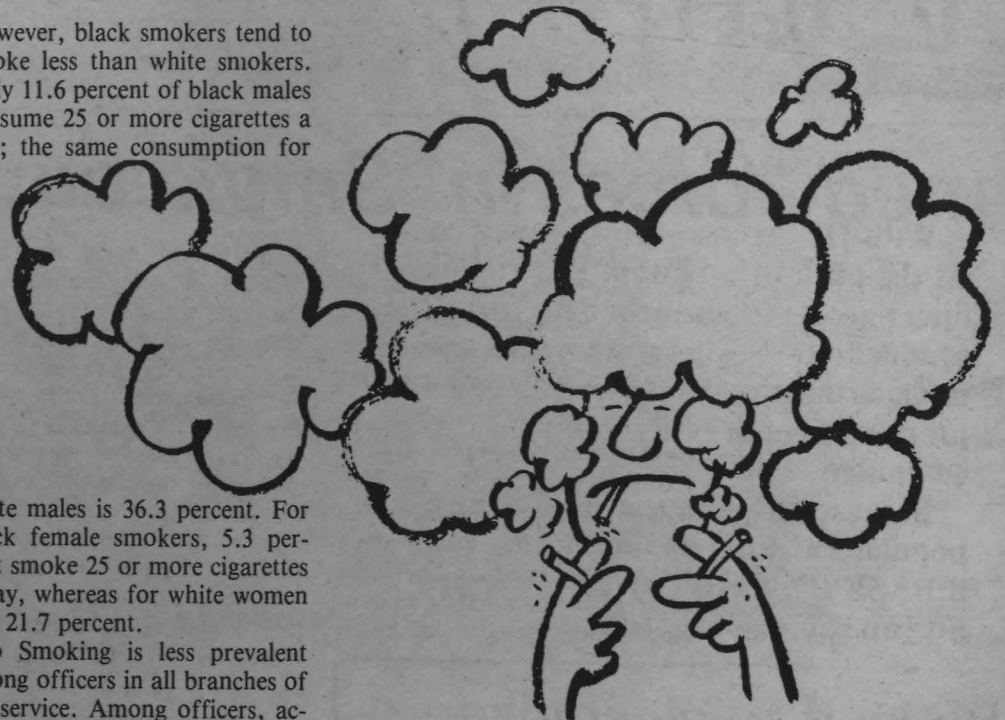

- More than 320,000 Americans will die prematurely this year of diseases linked to smoking.

- The Office of the U.S. Surgeon General estimates that 60,000 Americans will die this year from chronic obstructive respiratory conditions such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Between 80 and 90 percent of these deaths are attributable to smoking and, therefore, can be considered preventable and premature.

- According to a 1985 survey by the National Center for Health Statistics, 43 percent of black men and 33 percent of black women smoke versus 35 percent and 30 percent of white men and women, respectively.

However, black smokers tend to smoke less than white smokers. Only 11.6 percent of black males consume 25 or more cigarettes a day; the same consumption for white males is 36.3 percent. For black female smokers, 5.3 percent smoke 25 or more cigarettes a day, whereas for white women it is 21.7 percent.

- Smoking is less prevalent among officers in all branches of the service. Among officers, according to a 1985 survey, smoking rates ranged from about 14 percent in the Air Force to about 23 percent in the Army.

- The same survey found the highest rates of smoking in all branches of the armed forces in pay grades E-7 through E-9. At these levels, 49 percent of Marine Corps personnel, 50 percent of Air Force personnel, 54 percent of Navy personnel and 63 percent of Army personnel smoked in 1985.

- DoD permits designated smoking areas in eating facilities, common work areas and waiting rooms of medical treatment facilities only where space and ventilation are adequate to provide a healthful environment for non-smokers.

- Smoking increases the risk of stroke, according to Framingham Heart Study researchers, who published their findings this year in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

- Smoking is on the decline. Americans smoked 584 billion cigarettes in 1985, down from 594 billion in 1984, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

- Formal military child-care programs in all services will be using a smoking prevention package for preschoolers. Called "Starting Free—Good Air For Me," the package includes hand puppets and fun activities in an upbeat prevention program for children aged 3 to 5. This is connected with the services' goals to be smoke-free by the year 2000 and to have a smoke-free Class of 2000 (children born in 1982).

- Smokeless tobacco (snuff and chewing tobacco) is linked to oral cancer. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, the use of smokeless tobacco products increased steadily from 295 million cans in 1978 to 481 million cans in 1985. In 1986, a National Institutes of Health paper noted a disturbing trend—many smokeless tobacco users were young.

Some local studies have reported use by as many as 40 percent of high school boys, and one state found significant use by kindergarten-age children. Following a 1986 federal law requiring smokeless tobacco products to carry warning labels about the health hazards of their use, the largest manufacturers' snuff sales have declined by 3.7 percent.

Education Week set

WHEREAS education produces the ability to think, to analyze the past, to envision the future, to acquire a useful skill, to satisfy curiosity, to perform a needed service, to protect the well-being of the world community, and

WHEREAS children and adults of our land have been granted the right to freedom of education, as well as the right to defend that freedom, and

WHEREAS White Sands Missile Range supports these concepts through the provision of a wide range of educational programs designed to increase knowledge, enrich community life, enhance academic and military careers, promote self fulfillment and increase the effectiveness of all participants;

THEREFORE I, Major General Thomas J.P. Jones, Commander of White Sands Missile Range, do hereby proclaim the week of 16 through 21 November 1987 as the White Sands Missile Range American Education Week with the theme of "We the People: Establishing Our Educational Freedom." I encourage each of you to maximize your educational opportunity by visiting our schools and Education Center to determine which programs can best fulfill your specific needs, and to become actively involved in education for yourself and your children.

IN WITNESS THEREOF I have set my hand this tenth day of November in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and eighty-seven.

THOMAS J.P. JONES
Major General, USA

Quit tips for smokeout

Throw out all cigarettes by breaking them in half and wetting them down. Clean out all ashtrays in your home, office or car and put them away. Discard matches; hide lighters or give them away.

When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath. Hold it a second, then release it very, very slowly. Taking deep, rhythmic breaths is similar to smoking, only you'll inhale clean air, not poisonous gases.

Exercise to help relieve tension. Climb stairs rather than take the elevator, park the car a block or two from your destination and walk the rest of the way. At home, practice touching your toes, jog in place, do jumping jacks.

When tempted to reach for a cigarette, think of a negative image about smoking. Select your worst memory connected with the habit—the time you burned a hole in your suit or when you were left completely breathless running for a bus that pulled away. Imagine this experience for 15 seconds whenever the urge occurs.

Reward yourself with oral substitutes in the same way you may have used cigarettes. Good examples: sugarless gum, lemon drops, pumpkin or sunflower seeds, apple slices, carrot sticks, unbuttered popcorn and stick cinnamon.

Eat three or more small meals. This maintains constant blood sugar levels, thus helping to prevent urges to smoke. Avoid sugar-laden foods and spicy items that can trigger a desire for cigarettes.

Scramble up your day and change habits connected with smoking. Drive a different route to work; eat lunch in a new place; leave the "scene of an urge." At home, avoid your "smoking chair" after dinner, reach for gum rather than a cigarette when answering the phone.

Cleanse your body of nicotine. Drink liquids—lots of them. Water (6-8 glasses a day), herbal teas, fruit juices and caffeine-free soft drinks all fit the bill. Pass up coffee, soft drinks and alcohol, as they can increase your urge to smoke.

Keep your hands—and mind—busy. Work on a crossword puzzle, knit a sweater, balance your checkbook, fix something around the house, shampoo the dog.

YOU COULD ACCESS

VITAL BUSINESS DATA IN ONE SIMPLE STROKE?"

With HP Access software, you can. At the push of a button, you can have direct access to business data (financial, production, sales, inventory, etc.) located in departmental databases you couldn't previously get to easily with your personal computer.

Because this data transfers directly into popular PC formats (like Lotus 1-2-3 or d:BASE II), there's no extra re-keying.

So you can analyze, compare and manipulate lots of information without waiting. And without all the hassle.

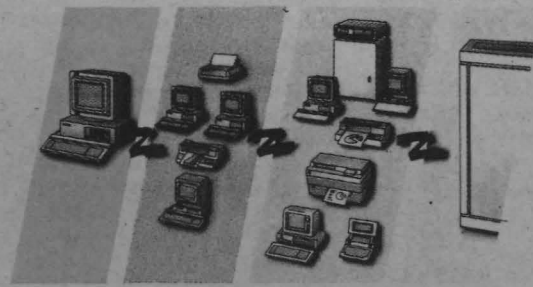

HP Access is a key feature of HP's Personal Productivity Center (PPC). An office information system that lets people access, share and exchange information better—and easier.

Depending on your needs, the PPC can include HP Vectra and Touchscreen PC's, IBM PC's, departmental computers, mainframe communications and advanced networking. And the kind of innovation you expect from a company with a forty-seven year history for unsurpassed quality. People who never stop asking "What if...?"

“MAIL HANDLERS GIVES ME A CHOICE.”

“I’ve had the same family doctor for 12 years now. And I wouldn’t dream of giving him up just to join an HMO. My freedom of choice is too important.

That’s why I chose the Mail Handlers Benefit Plan. It gives me the freedom to choose my own doctor and hospital.

Mail Handlers even gives me dental coverage (High Option only), hospital benefits, catastrophic protection, surgical benefits, plus a whole lot more—at very affordable rates. And I don’t have to pay a large annual deductible.

All this, plus the freedom to choose my own doctor and hospital...who could ask for anything more?”

This is a summary of the features of the Mail Handlers Benefit Plan. Before making a final decision, please read the Plan’s officially approved brochure (RI 71-7). All benefits are subject to the definitions, limitations, and exclusions set forth in the official brochure.

Hatch Act reform bill moves to back burner?

Editor's Note: This column offers news of interest to federal employees. Information is furnished courtesy of the WSMR Chapter of the Federal Managers Association (FMA).

Budget "Summit"

To avoid a sequester order, Congress still needs to come up with $23 billion in cuts and revenues by Nov. 20. That's the magic date that starts the countdown to across-the-board cuts on all programs.

The President's negotiators so far are insisting on only $8 billion in taxes and no defense cuts. The President's opposition refuse to consider domestic cuts unless taxes and defense can be considered as well.

Within the last few days the President has shown some willingness to discuss possible tax increases to get the program moving. However, if the president does move out on these issues, everything, including our pay raise, COLA and lump sum provision, is up for grabs.

What do we need to do? We need to continue to impress upon our legislators that any further cuts in our benefits are unconscionable.

The Federal Managers' Association has sent telegrams to each member of the budget summit soliciting their assistance.

Hatch Act

As of last week there were 258 co-sponsors to the House bill.

Rep. Bill Richardson is the only House representative from New Mexico who is a co-sponsor of this legislation.

With all the focus that is being put on the budget summit and the protection of our pay raise and COLA, we might have to place the Hatch Act reform bill on the back burner. But I think we can predict that the Congress will not be adjourning before at least the middle of December. We should still have enough time for Congress to vote on the Hatch Act after the summit disbands.

Continuing Resolution

There are times that I wish I would be wrong in a forecast. Some time ago I forecast that we would be working under another series of short term continuing resolutions that would certainly impact upon us.

Well folks, last Thursday the House passed such a short term continuing resolution that will fund government programs at 1987 levels through December 1987. So the Nov. 21 adjournment is certainly out.

Concerted efforts by FMA and other employee associations headed off an effort by some representatives to offer an amendment to delete our 3 percent raise. We found out that some representatives were queasy about getting an additional 3 percent raise after having already gotten a 14 percent raise.

Those who are concerned for the well being of the federal employee quickly pointed out that any attempt to delete our raise would focus on Congress, judges and executive level personnel. After all, we didn't get the 14 percent raise.

GSA Phone Rules

There is some good news for some government employees. Last week, GSA issued final regulations for personal telephone use by government employees. The regulations say the government telephone system must be used only for the conduct of official business and other compassionate personal calls. The compassionate calls include:

—Calls to report illness or injury.

—Calls to notify family if an employee is delayed while traveling on official business.

—A brief daily call by an employee traveling more than one night away from home on government business within the country.

—A call home to report the need to work overtime without notice.

—A brief daily call to speak to a spouse, child or babysitter.

—Calls to essential local services that can be contacted only during the business day.

The telephone system referred to in the GSA rule is the FTS. How this could affect WSMR is not known.

Open Season Reminder

Open season for health insurance began Nov. 9 and ends Friday, Dec. 11.

Lump Sum Tax Bill

Unless something falls out from the budget summit, Sen. Sparks Matsunaga's bill to eliminate the 10 percent penalty on lump sum payments encountered no opposition when introduced and we can safely predict its passage.

For those federal workers anticipating using the lump sum provision, passage will be the first real break in our retirement process.

Spend 22 cents and let your legislators know how important the lump sum bill is.

The Quiet Crisis

The quiet crisis is what is going on within the rank and file of civil service. Paul Volcker, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and now chairman of the privately funded National Commission on the Public Service, is being seen that the only solution to retaining a qualified work force, and changing the desire for public service may well include substantial increases in pay and benefits.

However, he places the highest priority on real evidence that the federal work force is appreciated by the public, their bosses and by the President.

Volcker acknowledges that the task is far from an easy one. He recognizes that Americans have always been ambivalent about government.

Recently, at a briefing, he stated "we still have a strong feeling that government is best that governs the least; nonetheless, we are quick and caustic with our complaints and our rhetoric when government does not produce what we expect of it. And as we've grown in size and in the complexity of our society, for better or worse we've asked and expected more of government."

He further pointed out that we create our own obstacles to recruitment by requiring the mass of red tape for that first-time applicant. Recruitment is most hampered by pay scales for government professionals that seriously lag the private sector.

The commission and Volcker are targeting the public to better understand and appreciate the government worker. Let's hope that they are successful.

If anyone has any item of information they feel should be brought to the attention of the civilian work force, contact Chapter 132, Federal Managers Association, P.O. Box 250, WSMR, N.M. 88002. Questions concerning membership in FMA should be referred to Juan Ogaz by calling 678-1617.

CG honors helpers, volunteers

Range Commander, Maj. Gen. Thomas J.P. Jones, recently presented awards to the Helpers of Teachers and Students volunteers and their sponsoring agency, the Parent-Teacher and Student Association. The Advisory Council of the Installation Volunteer Coordinator selected this agency and its volunteers as the Volunteer and Agency for the month of November.

Present at the ceremony were Richard Shriver, school principal, Col. Scott Tippin, Director of Personnel and Community Activities, Col. Edward Brady, PTSA president, Benecia Trammel, HOTS coordinator Waynette Bridges, Army Community Services chief, Meredyth Tippin and Maria Chernault of the Installation Volunteer Coordinator's Office. Brady and Trammel accepted the award for the agency.

The volunteers honored on Monday were Roberta Baxter, Lucy Breeden, Felecia Carrillo, Brenda Cole, Barbara Connors, Helen Cooley, Joyce Davis, Cathy Eschrich, Thelma Flanders, Charlotte Gregory, Patricia Hamilton, Pat Harlan, Paula Jolicoeur, Christina Kelley, Carman Mercer, Sylvia Robinson, Rosita Stout, Benecia Trammel, Liz Williams, Regenia Williamson and Vickie Wilcher.

Each Fall the teachers and staff of the WSMR School request volunteers to work in their classrooms and offices. The volunteers may listen to children read, prepare materials for the classroom, play enrichment games with the students, catalogue supplies for the Science room, or any other tasks called for by the teachers and staff.

This extra attention given by the HOTS volunteers allows the teacher more time to teach and encourages students to learn. Tutoring is offered by volunteers as well when requested by the teacher or parents. For more information about this agency contact the Installation Volunteer Coordinator at 678-3597 or Trammel in care of the WSMR School.

For beginners

There will be a Beginner's Motorcycle course on Nov. 23, 24 and 25. Motorcycle training is a requirement for motorcycle registration on WSMR.

Interested persons may register for the motorcycle safety course at the Safety Office or call George Garcia at 678-1211.

Plan the alternative

Is there an alternative to filing bankruptcy? Often times, yes, the Army Community Services Debt Liquidation Plan is the alternative. Bankruptcy can affect your credit rating for 7 to 10 years.

Debt liquidation establishes a payment plan with your creditors to help lower your payments and slowly diminish your bills.

For more information, contact Michelle Raasch at Army Community Services Financial Planning and Assistance Program, 107 Twin Cities, 678-6767.

Notice

White Sands Federal Credit Union Seeking Director Candidates

The White Sands Federal Credit Union (WSFCU) is requesting one page resumes from members planning to run in the Board of Directors election.

Four positions will become open in March. The three incumbents, Al Gonzalez, Francis Williams and Tony Gomez, are seeking mail ballot re-election. However, other candidates are encouraged to run in order to offer the widest possible opportunity for member participation.

Directors serve without pay. They are responsible for establishing credit union policy, employing the credit union manager and authorizing credit union business transactions. The Board meets on the third Wednesday of each month from 11:30 am to 1:00 pm in the White Sands Credit Union office, building 143.

Any credit union member in good standing may seek election. Persons interested in running should send resumes by November 30, 1987 to: WSFCU, Building 143, WSMR, New Mexico 88002; White Sands Federal Credit Union, 2190 East Lohman Ave., Las Cruces, New Mexico 88001; or Nominating Committee Chairman Jim Wooden, 4500 Big Sky Dr., Las Cruces, New Mexico 88001.

Seek Great Families

The White Sands School PTSA is currently coordinating an effort for the range to identify and honor three of the community's "Great American Families."

This effort is being held in conjunction with this year's Army Family Week activities (Nov. 22-28). This year's event marks the fifth year that WSMR has recognized families who have contributed to the strength of our local community. Organizations as well as individuals may nominate families whose exemplary lives and service to the community inspire others to strengthen family relationships.

The following three major considerations should influence the nomination of families to be considered as WSMR Great American Families:

Community service rendered by the family and its members.

Positive influence on the community shown by family teamwork without neglecting family duties.

Encouragement of individual growth within the family so that each member lives a happy and productive life.

Nominee(s) may include a diversity of families including single and two-parent families, small and extended families, all of whom should exemplify values of caring, supporting and responsibility in their lifestyles.

Organizations and families may obtain nomination forms from Army Community Services Center, 105 Twin Cities, White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico 88002. Nominations must be submitted on or before Nov. 17.

Questions should be directed to the PTSA program coordinator Col. Ed Brady, 678-2256 (work) or 678-4830 (home).

CSRS/FERS conversion films set

The films on CSRS/FERS conversion and Thrift Savings Plans will be shown for the hearing impaired on November 20 from 1 to 3 p.m. in classroom 6, basement of building 124. An interpreter will be present to "sign" the films and to assist in a question and answer session following.

All hearing impaired are encouraged to attend this special showing. Supervisors will release employees unless mission requirements preclude attendance.

Supervisors will notify R. Starman at 678-4214 of employees expected to attend.

Bullet is stopped by bullet

The Army stopped a bullet with a bullet when soldiers last week fired a Patriot missile and intercepted another Patriot missile during a test at White Sands Missile Range.

The successful test on Nov. 4 "...demonstrates that Patriot can counter short range, conventional tactical missiles similar to those facing U.S. soldiers and other NATO forces in Europe," the Army said.

Although specific details are classified, the intercept occurred at medium range and altitude. During the test, Patriot's computer-controlled, phased array radar detected and tracked the incoming Patriot, representing a surrogate tactical ballistic missile.

The interceptor missile, featuring hardware improvements to the fuze and warhead, then successfully intercepted and destroyed the target.

Tests of the improved Patriot missile to collect data and demonstrate its anti-tactical missile capabilities are continuing at White Sands.

The test, in full compliance with the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty, is part of an Army-sponsored program to incorporate anti-tactical missile capability into Patriot.

Patriot, the Army's newest and most advanced air defense system currently being deployed with U.S. and NATO forces in Europe, has repeatedly demonstrated its capability to destroy high performance aircraft in a countermeasures environment. And in late 1986, a modified Patriot showed its potential to defend against tactical ballistic missiles as well by intercepting and destroying a Lance missile at White Sands.

The Lance intercept demonstrated software changes to the system while last week's test incorporated hardware changes.

Patriot's inherent flexibility enables it to defend against both advanced aircraft and tactical ballistic missiles. Soldiers assigned to test activities at White Sands conducted the test.

Col. Bruce Garnett is Patriot project manager and A.O. Oldacre is his civilian deputy at Redstone Arsenal, with support from Harry Diamond Laboratory, Adelphi, Md. Raytheon Company is prime contractor, Martin Marietta the principal subcontractor. Morton-Thiokol is the propulsion subcontractor and Bendix Corp. provided the missile fuze.

Talk set on chemical dependency

Nov. 15 at 5:30 p.m., the Protestant Youth of the Chapel (PYOC) will host all Jr. High Students for a presentation on Chemical Dependency. Joe Provenencia, a staff member at Valley View Hospital since December 1985, will be our guest speaker.

Provenencia is a recovering drug addict and very active in community affairs. He has done extensive work with youth and is currently presenting a "Say No to Drugs" program to teachers and students in Deming, N.M.

He is active in the Las Cruces AL ANON and Alcoholic Anonymous. He has been a speaker in many of the surrounding communities as well as throughout the state of New Mexico.

Provenencia will soon be heading up a new Chemical Dependency Unit directed towards Hispanics.

This Saturday he will be participating in a panel discussion with the Mesilla Valley People In Action, of which he is the program chairman.

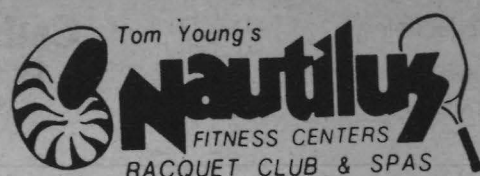

The Jr. High Youth will be meeting at the Post Chapel and a snack will be served following the presentation.

This program is directed towards the youth but a meeting of interested parents will be scheduled at a later date with Provenencia.

Challenges sharing of leave

Robert Hague, a civilian intelligence research specialist for the Naval Intelligence Support Center in Suitland, Md., isn't out to fight city hall. But he's challenging the leave policy that governs more than 3 million civilians.

A 17-year federal employee, Hague faces the end-of-the-year "use or lose" dilemma almost every year. Because government rules allow workers to carry no more than 240 hours of annual leave over from one year to the next, Hague often found himself kissing much of his hard-earned vacation time goodbye.

Hague's friend, Barbara DiPietrantonio, has just the opposite problem. Hard times have forced the blind Department of Transportation employee to exhaust all the annual and sick leave she had. DiPietrantonio took leave to care for her father after his heart surgery, then to fight a bout of the flu. The real crunch came when she learned she would have to take a month or more of leave to train a new seeing-eye dog.

Hague came up with a novel idea now being tested by the Office of Personnel Management: Why not allow federal civilians to donate annual and sick leave to co-workers who could make better use of it?

He was disappointed to learn that laws governing federal employees' leave policy prohibited him from donating leave to DiPietrantonio. Undaunted, Hague took his case to Congress.

The result is a congressionally mandated five-year test program that allows certain employees to receive donations of leave from co-workers during personal or medical emergencies. Three of 242 applicants were selected for the test. Among them: Karen Sefton, a computer programmer and analyst at the Army Personnel Information Systems Command in Alexandria, Va.

Sefton's 4-year-old daughter, Jennifer, was diagnosed in February as having neuroblastoma, a rare childhood cancer. Regular visits to the hospital for chemotherapy and follow-up treatments forced Sefton to use all the leave she had saved. Her husband, an employee of Arlington County, Va., exhausted all his leave as well.

After Sefton had used all the advance leave she could borrow, she was forced to take more and more leave without pay—at a time when mounting medical bills were driving her family into a severe financial crisis.

Before she was selected for the program, Sefton saw few alternatives.

"If I had not had leave-sharing, I would have probably had to quit and draw on my retirement," she said. "We were spending so much time in the hospital and running back and forth, there was no way for both of us (Sefton and her husband) to keep on working. It was inevitable that one of us would have to quit work."

Skip Campbell, the civilian personnel officer who services the Personnel Information Systems Command, explained how the Volunteer Leave Transfer Program is being administered in Sefton's case.

Federal employees at the Personnel Information Systems Command, Military Personnel Center, Civilian Personnel

Center and Community and Family Support Center, all housed at the Hoffman Center complex, are eligible to give leave to Sefton. The test is limited to employees paid by the finance and accounting office at St. Louis to aid recordkeeping, he said. Sick leave cannot be donated because Sefton's daughter, not Sefton, is ill.

"This was a brand new program with no precedent," Campbell said. "We pretty much had to invent the rules as we went along because they weren't laid out for us. We've tried to be as flexible as possible in getting the program off the ground."

Since Sefton's selection to the program in mid-June, 186 of her co-workers have donated 2,539 hours of annual leave. Some have donated a couple of hours, some a full week. One man, a friend of Sefton's mother, donated 80 hours.

Sefton's co-workers appear to like the program as well. Wanda Damon said the leave-sharing program is popular because it lets people band together to help a co-worker in need.

Full-time federal workers earn annual leave based on length of service. Employees with less than three years service accrue 13 days a year; those with more than three but less than 15 years service earn 19½ days a year. Workers with 15 or more years receive 26 days a year.

That means the workers most likely to need additional leave are employees new to government service. Senior employees, who accumulate leave the fastest, are most likely to have extra leave to donate.

Don't heat bottles in microwave

Use of microwave ovens for heating infant bottles is dangerous. When bottles are heated in this manner the liquid continues to heat after removal from the microwave oven. The bottle on the outside often feels cool or at comfortable temperature.

Infants have received serious mouth and throat burns. Additional reports have indicated bottles exploding due to pressure of the continued heat generated causing serious facial and neck burns to infants.

WSMR Child Development Service Caregivers and Family Child Care Providers have been advised and have discontinued the practice of heating bottles in microwaves. We recommend that parents with small children also do so.

Briefly

Siren test set

The monthly test of the WSMR Air Defense Warning System (sirens) will be conducted Monday between 10 and 10:30 a.m. The purpose of the test is to ensure adequacy of the post sirens and familiarize WSMR personnel with the warning signals.

The attention or alert signal (steady tone) will be sounded for one minute followed by one minute of silence and then the attack warning signal (wavering tone) will be sounded for one minute.

All inoperative sirens are to be reported to the Plans and Quality Assurance Directorate, 678-3803. No other action is required during the test.

Childbirth classes

Prepare for childbirth by attending a series of classes sponsored by the community health nurse from William Beaumont Army Medical Center (WBAMC). Classes will be held Dec. 4, 11 and 18 from 1 to 3 p.m. in the McAfee Clinic.

There will be several films on various topics for prospective parents. Registration is at the OB Clinic and during the class. Certificates will be awarded upon completion of the series. For more information call 568-7588.

TROA to elect

The Retired Officers Association (TROA) annual election and dinner meeting is Wednesday, 6 p.m. at Picacho Hills Country Club. The menu will be barbecue beef brisket. Call 526-2579, 526-1892, 524-4813 for more information.

Office closes

The Finance and Accounting Office, building 102, will be closed Friday, Nov. 27 in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday. Emergency requirements should be handled through the Staff Duty Officer.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

MAYFIELD HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL GAME is the event tonight. This is the big one: Mayfield versus Las Cruces High School. The bus leaves at 6 p.m. and there is a 50 cent cost for the trip. Only YAC members with permission slips turned in before the deadline may go. The deadline for all trips is the Wednesday before. Preteens with parent(s) or guardian(s) are invited on a space available basis.

6-8 GRADER TRIP Saturday to the Alamogordo Youth Center for a big dance. The bus leaves at 6 p.m. All participants must be YAC members with permission slips turned in before the deadline. There will be a 50 cent fee for this trip plus admission to the dance.

PING PONG TOURNAMENT will be held Monday at 4 p.m. for 12-year-olds and 7 p.m. for teens. Monthly winners play in quarterly championships for trophies.

CREATIVE FILMMAKING CLASS continues on Tuesday. Class is free and promises to be a popular event.

FREE MOVIE DAY Wednesdays.

Some of Hollywood's most popular movies are shown to preteens at 4 p.m. and teens at 7 p.m.

BIRTHDAY PARTY will take place at 4 p.m. Thursday to celebrate all November birthdays. All YAC members are invited.

CHEERLEADING AND BASKETBALL SIGN UPS have begun and will run until Nov. 20. Coaches for both events are needed.

Hail, farewell set

The Hail and Farewell will be on Nov. 24, 4:30 p.m. at the Officers Club. The purpose is to welcome all officers and civilian employees who have arrived at this installation since Oct. 23 and bid farewell to those club members who will depart before Jan. 29, 1988.

All newly assigned officers and civilian employees, GS-05 or equivalent and above, and their spouses, and all members of the Officers Club and their spouses are cordially invited to attend. For further information contact the Protocol Office, 678-1028.

HHC wins

HHC wins Intramural League soccer title. HHC beat off 259th MP Company's bid for first place in the intramural soccer league last week and ended the regular season with a 7-1 record and the intramural soccer league championship. The Pistols dropped to 5-3, good for second place.

Large selection

The White Sands Main Exchange and the Roundup are ready to help you pick out a home layaway item. The Roundup has large appliances and the Main Exchange has a large selection of televisions.

For a minimum deposit of 10 percent and a 3 percent service charge, shoppers can choose now and pay later. The balance is divided into six monthly payments. Items must have a minimum purchase price of $200 or more.

For more information regarding full details of the home layaway program, call customer service at 678-2072 or the Roundup at 678-4877. Now is the time to start Christmas shopping before the rush begins.

Need help?

If you are experiencing a credit crunch, contact the Financial Planning and Assistance Program at Army Community Services, 107 Twin Cities.

A counselor is available to assist individuals and families with organizing their financial affairs and with contacting creditors for acceptable solutions to financial problems.

Hours are 7:45 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Phone Michelle Raasch at 678-6767 to schedule an appointment.

Juarez tour

The Countdown Recreation Center is sponsoring a tour to Juarez on Nov. 17. The bus will leave from the Recreation Center at 8 a.m. to go to Pace Hall on Fort Bliss. A different bus at 9 a.m. will travel to these places: Scenic drive to UTEP; Juarez Avenue and Oppenheimer's; City Market; Pronaf (for lunch); and Rio Grande Mall.

The bus will return to Pace Hall at approximately 4 p.m. and proceed back to White Sands. Cost is $7 per person (lunch not included). For reservations call the Recreation Center, 678-4134, or come by the center. Fee has to be paid in advance and no later than Nov. 15.

Disco tonight

Big A will be providing the music for a variety disco tonight at the NCO/Enlisted Club. Hot Licks, a rock and roll band will be providing the music on Saturday.

Each Sunday during November the club will be having a disco from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Families are honored each Wednesday with family night smorgasbord from 5 to 8:30 p.m. The meal includes soup, salad, vegetables, starches and a minimum of two entrees. The cost is adults, $5.95; children six to 16 years, 25 cents per year of age; and children under six free.

Fresh donuts are now available at the club from Monday through Friday, 7 to 9 a.m. Donuts are 35 cents each.

BB clinic set

All coaches, players and managers are encouraged to attend the basketball clinic at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 23 and 24 at Bell Gym. Regular season play for basketball begins Dec. 1. For more information, call 678-3374.

Basketball tourney

An invitational basketball tournament will be held Nov. 20-22. Teams include Fort Bliss, WBAMC, HAFB, El Paso Rebels, MACA, 3rd CAV and Wilson Optical. Entry fee is $60 per team. Registration deadline is Nov. 17.

Pistols win title

259th MP Company captures flag football crown. The 259th MP Pistols pulled out a 21-14 victory over A Btry in what was the last game of the season for both teams. The win enabled the Pistols to improve their record to 8-1 while A Btry dropped to 3-6.

In other action HHC defeated Charlie Company 26-21 to take second place.

Closes at noon

The Badging Office building 880, will close at noon today. This is necessary to enable a contractor to install new work stations. Actions of an emergency nature will be accommodated. Normal duty hours will resume on Nov. 16.

Over 30 Club

Are you an enthusiastic over 30 basketball player? Join others who share your ability and form a team to see if you can defeat the Hilltoppers, the two-time defending over 30 champions.

Any individuals who do not have a team to join may leave their name and telephone number with Bell Gym staff or call the gym at 678-3374. The league is scheduled to start Dec. 2.

Fun run set

A 5K Fun Run will be held Nov. 25 at Bell Gym. Entry fee is $6 per person and includes a T-shirt for each finisher. A surprise drawing will be conducted at the conclusion of the run. For more information, contact the Sports Office at Bell Gym 678-3374.

Sports

Continuing seasons help duck, geese hunters

Hunters can take advantage of continuing seasons in parts of the Central and Pacific flyways for ducks and geese, said Jerry Maracchini, Department of Game and Fish. In some areas, seasons will reopen next week. Quail season opens this week.

Waterfowlers may use only nontoxic steel shot in the Middle Rio Grande Valley, on state waterfowl management areas, in the lower Pecos River Valley, near La Cueva in the northeast and in portions of Bitter Lake and Las Vegas national wildlife refuges.

In the Central Flyway, an experimental season for light geese in the Middle Rio Grande Valley is open through Jan. 10. Bag limit is five light geese per day, 20 in possession. Regular season for light geese opens Nov. 28 in the Central Flyway, excluding the Middle Rio Grande Valley. Limit is five per day, 10 in possession. Dark goose season continues through Jan. 17 in the Central Flyway, but Sandoval, Sierra, Valencia, Socorro and Bernalillo counties are closed. Limit is two dark geese per day, four in possession. Season is open through Dec. 15 in Zone 1 (north of I-40 and U.S. 54) for ducks. Season opens Nov. 12 and continues through Jan. 17 south of I-40 and U.S. 54 for ducks. Bag limit is set by point value.

In the Pacific Flyway south of Interstate 40, hunters may take light or dark geese through Jan. 17. Bag limit is six per day and in possession, including up to three dark or light geese and up to two Canada geese. Light geese are snow, blue phase snow and Ross' geese. Dark geese are Canada and greater white-fronted geese.

Duck season in the Pacific Flyway will reopen Nov. 11 and continue through Jan. 10. Limit is five per day, 10 in possession, with no more than four mallards or pintails (including only one hen of each). Possession limit may include no more than twice the daily bag limit of the two species. Season is Nov. 11-Jan. 11 for American coots and common moorhens. Bag limit on coots is 15 per day, 30 in possession. Limit on moorhens is five per day, 10 in possession.

Quail season opens statewide Nov. 14 and continues through Feb. 14. Limits are 15 per day, 30 in possession.

The regular sandhill crane season continues through Jan. 24 in Chaves, Curry, De Baca, Eddy, Lea, Quay and Roosevelt counties. Limits are three per day, six in possession. Every regular crane season hunter must have a bird-hunting license, plus a free federal crane hunting permit available from Game and Fish Department offices.

Season continues through Nov. 30 statewide for common snipe. Limits are eight per day, 16 in possession. Hunters should consult the 1987-88 waterfowl and small game seasons brochures for more information on open dates, shooting hours and bag limits.

Red Rock Wildlife Area to be doubled for Bighorn sheep

The Red Rock Wildlife Area, 30 miles north of Lordsburg, will be doubled in size so twice as many desert bighorn sheep will be available for transplanting. Fencing work will begin in mid-November to enclose about 750 acres of land, with most of the cost borne by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, according to the N.M. Department of Game and Fish.

The state chapter of Safari Club International is paying for a $2,200 water catchment as part of the project estimated at a total cost of $200,000 in materials and labor. Work will take about three months to complete.

There are 43 desert bighorns, an endangered species native to the state, at Red Rock. That allows about 20 head to be transplanted about every three years. The most recent transplant was in the Alamo Hueco Mountains last spring. With the pasture expansion at Red Rock, about 100 sheep will be accommodated, allowing transplants every year or two.

Current enclosed pasture at Red Rock is about 732 acres. The new 750-acre pasture will be mostly on BLM land, though some State School Trust land and department land is involved also. Fencing will be nine feet high with barbed wire at the top. To anchor metal posts, holes will have to be blasted from rock at several points.

At deep arroyo crossings, hinged gates will be installed under the fence to allow flash-flood water to pass through without destroying fence sections. The elevation difference between some of the pasture land and the bottom of Ash Canyon is about 500 feet.

Safari Club International, N.M. Chapter, has volunteered to buy an inverted umbrella type of water catchment. The collector, 16 feet across, will trap rain and snowmelt in a region that experiences about eight inches of precipitation a year. A float releases water into a drinking tub for sheep or other wildlife, including small game and birds. The club will pay half the $2,200 cost this year and half in 1988.

Once the sheep adapt to that kind of water supply, they will be better prepared to be released into historic ranges. The Pelon-cillo, Alamo Hueco and Hatched mountains have similar drinking units installed. The catchment will also help keep sheep away from water pools in Ash Canyon where they can encounter more troublesome gnats and potential disease organisms.

The new pasture features varied topography and good vegetation, the department said. The manpower cost to erect the fence is estimated at $40,000, to be borne by the department. Materials, paid for by the BLM's Las Cruces district office, are available because the sheep are an endangered species.

POST LIBRARY

LEAVING HOME: A COLLECTION OF LAKE WOBEGON STORIES is by Garrison Keillor, who has for 13 years delighted millions of radio listeners with his tales about America's tallest small town in which he captured the essence of small town life. As he observes the changing seasons, changing mores and changing population of his hometown, Keillor reflects, too, on that life—defining choice between leaving home and staying put.

WHAT TO DO WHEN HE WON'T CHANGE: GETTING WHAT YOU NEED FROM THE MAN YOU LOVE by Dr. Dan Kiley tells us that honeymoons are great but they don't last forever, and even the most perfect lover climbs down off his pedestal and becomes a difficult guy to live with. This action-oriented book outlines positive programs a woman can use to lovingly confront her man and teach him to give her what she needs.

THE BLACK UNICORN by Terry Brooks is the sequel to MAGIC KINGDOM FOR SALE—SOLD! A year has passed since Ben bought the Magic Kingdom, only to find his road to the crown filled with hazards. Ben is also troubled by a dream he had and wakes to find the Wizard Meeks gloating over him. Meeks says he sent the dream and has cast a spell to assume Ben's appearance. Ben soon finds himself an outcast, unrecognized by any of his friends.

TWILIGHT EYES by Dean Koontz is a novel of heart-stopping terror. Sought by the police for murder, Slim MacKenzie is the hunted and the hunter. Slim also stalks the diabolical Others. His victim was one of them and only Slim knows who they are. He knows they are lurking, plotting their ultimate triumph. Slim is blessed—or cursed—with twilight eyes and he will kill again.

NOT WITHOUT MY DAUGHTER: A TRUE STORY by Betty Mahmoody tells her tale of faith, courage and constant hope in the face of incredible adversity. While on a two-week vacation in her husband's homeland of Iran, Mahmoody was informed by her husband that the family was going to remain in Iran. A virtual prisoner, Betty desperately began to plan her escape, all the while hiding her secret meetings from her husband and his large network of spies. This is a gripping story of her dangerous escape across the mountain range into Turkey, which began their long journey home to Michigan.

DEFIANT PATRIOT: THE LIFE AND EXPLOITS OF LT. COLONEL OLIVER NORTH by Peter Meyer outlines North's early life in upstate New York, his career at the Naval Academy and later as a marine in Vietnam. Much of this biography deals with North's most famous job as a member of President Reagan's National Security Council and his appearances at the Iran-Contra hearings.

HOFFA'S MAN: THE RISE & FALL OF JAMES R. HOFFA AS WITNESSED BY HIS STRONGEST ARM is by Joseph Franco, who was an important part of Hoffa's inner circle. Now he tells the whole story of Hoffa's organization: the Teamsters' connection to organized crime, the payoffs, Hoffa's power struggle with Fitzsimmons, his conviction and jail sentence, the too-sudden pardon and, ultimately, the disappearance, which Franco witnessed.

THE ONLY OTHER INVESTMENT GUIDE YOU'LL EVER NEED by Andrew Tobias is an entirely new guide to managing your money that can save you hundreds and thousands of dollars. Tobias makes the simple stuff fresh and fun for sophisticated investors while making the complicated stuff simple and compelling for the average person with little money—but big dreams.

THE FIRST EDEN: THE MEDITERRANEAN WORLD AND MAN by David Attenborough is a lavishly illustrated natural history of the Mediterranean. It is the story of man's changing attitude toward the natural world. It gives new insight into the animals, plants and societies that live now and have lived in and around the splendor of the Mediterranean Sea. This book has over 200 color photos, drawings and maps.

UNDERSTANDING CANCER by John Laszlo, M.D., is not a textbook recitation of cancer facts and statistics but a warmly written, caring presentation given from the perspective of both the researcher and the patient. Laszlo discusses the realities of cancer that everyone should know including: diagnostic procedures, second opinion, communicating effectively, treatments, causes and prevention, current research and progress, experimental therapies and quackery. Laszlo also provides assurance and hope to patients and their families.

Call 678-5820 or 678-1556 to reserve or renew a book.

To promote friendship

The NCO/Enlisted Wives Club is a non-profit organization on White Sands Missile Range. Established to promote friendship, provide social activities for the community and encourage charitable projects and volunteer services, the charity fund has enabled us to contribute to such worthwhile organizations as the Scouts, American Red Cross, the Army and Navy Emergency Relief Funds and Scholarships to name a few.

The upcoming Sweetheart Ball on Feb. 20, 1988 is the major fund raising project that we will sponsor this year. Last year our candidates raised $6,600 of which $5,000 was given as scholarships. This year our four contestants are hoping to surpass the $6,600 so that at least $6,000 can be given in scholarships.

Annual Las Cruces Horse Trials set this weekend

The New Mexico Dressage Combined Training Association is sponsoring the 3rd Annual Las Cruces Horse Trials, a 2-day horse trial event, an Olympic sport.

The local trials are recognized by the United States Combined Training Association, the American Horse Shows Association and The New Mexico Dressage and Combined Training Association.

The 2-day Las Cruces event originated in 1985 as a regional competition for riders in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Nevada and Arizona. The first jumping course established in Las Cruces is on the Jeff Isaacks Ranch and was designed by Canadian Paul Popiel. This year the Las Cruces Horse Trials will be held on Nov. 14 and 15.

The first Las Cruces Horse Trials were held in 1985 on the Isaacks Ranch. Fifty-three participants competed over two days in the three major tests that classify the horse trials as an Olympic event. The 1986 Trials attracted 200 - 300 spectators.

TESTS AND TIMES

The first test called "Dressage" begins at 8 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 14. The Dressage test comprises a set series of movements performed in an enclosed arena. The test is scored on each movement, similar to scoring in figure skating. The overall harmony and precision of the whole exercise is taken into consideration.

The second test, stadium jumping, starts at noon Saturday, Nov. 14, and takes place in the arena. A series of painted jumps in the ring must be negotiated.

The final test, cross country jumping, begins at 8 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 15. Speed and endurance is most crucial in this test.

In Olympic and World competition, the total mileage to be covered on the speed and endurance phase can be up to 20 miles. The course at the Isaacks Ranch is one to two miles long and has over 20 jumps.

The cross country course was designed by Paul Popiel of Canada. Popiel also designed the 1976 Montreal Olympic course, the cross country course at the Scottsdale Horse Complex in Arizona and the 1987 World Championship course in Indiana.

Southwest horses will find a water hazard on the Las Cruces course along with several drop fences that make use of arroyos in the desert area.

JUMPS

The course on the Isaacks' Ranch has been personalized for the family. One of the jumps is in the form of Jeffrey Isaacks' brand, the Quarter Circle Diamond X. Another brand is used for a jump called the Lazy Seven HL, Steve Isaacks' brand.

The Isaacks' have tried to name all of the jumps on the course.

"We try to give them (jumps) catchy names, such as rattlesnake fence, the graveyard, boothill and dry gulch" said Marilyn Isaacks. A new addition is a bank jump called "the Blood Bank."

JUDGES AND DIRECTIONS TO RANCH

This year the judges, Roger Haller of New Jersey who was on the Olympic team and is on the Board of Governors of USCTA, and Colleen Glass of California, who helped put on the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, will evaluate the riders and their mounts as they go through their paces on Saturday and Sunday.

The event is open to the public and promises to be an enjoyable and exciting afternoon of entertainment. To get to the ranch, drive east toward Organ, turn left on Holman Road between mileposts 156 and 157, drive north on Holman Road approximately 3½ miles. The Isaacks Ranch is on the left side of the road.

D66 off Holman Road will be closed during cross country competition Sunday. It will be open between divisions only. Please use Jornada Road Sunday after 7:30 a.m.

Awards will be presented at approximately 2 p.m. Sunday. Refreshments will be sold by the Sunrise Lions Club during the trials.

APPEARING FOR THE third consecutive year in the Las Cruces Horse Trials this weekend will be Nicole Sisbarro, 16, shown here riding Harry S. The annual event will take place Nov. 14 & 15 on the Isaacks Ranch, off Highway 70 east. The dressage test will get underway Saturday at 8 a.m., followed by stadium jumping at noon. Cross country jumping trials will begin Sunday at 8 a.m. The event is admission free. (Sisbarro photo)

Friendly new face on base.

Gets you through with ease.

The new AT&T Public Phone.

It's the fast, easy way to stay close to faraway family and friends next to dialing direct from your own phone. Even when you're making several calls at once.

No coins, easy dialing with the AT&T Card. Simply dial "0" plus the area code and phone number you're calling; wait for the tone and enter in your AT&T Card number. You can make all types of long distance calls: even international and Directory Assistance. Even toll-free 800 numbers. No need to re-enter the Card number after each call; just hit the # sign and dial the phone number you want to reach. It's that simple.

No AT&T Card is needed for collect and third party calls.

Just follow the easy directions and an operator will assist you.

You'll enjoy quick connections. Comfort and privacy. And calls that sound as close as you feel.

It's the clear service advantage. So get acquainted with a new friend. You'll find the AT&T Public Phones at various locations throughout your base.
